Giallo Cream is quarried from a bedrock quarry located in the northern part of Espirito Santo, Brazil. It is one of the larger quarries, producing more than one hundred truckloads per month. The structure is fairly consistent on each shipment, but may have some variation in movement and veining. This is one of the few granites that does not get a surface resin, therefore you can feel and see small pits in the slab. This does not affect the maintenance or beauty of the the stone. As a natural stone product, it is recommended that it be sealed to extend its longevity.

This granite is also known as Giallo Ornamental.
