Palladio Doge is an agglomerate marble. The term “agglomerate” means that it is comprised of small pieces of stone, fused together using resin. Therefore, it possesses similar characteristics of marble. It is possible to have grey, black, and even gold or oxidized spots in this product. In production, small pieces of white marble are tumbled to round the sharp edges. These are then combined with white resin and placed into a large rectangle tank to be cured into a block. The block is later cut into 1/2” thick slabs and then cut into tile. For proper bonding, use Custom Building Products Prolite White, 30LB mortar or Laticrete-254 Platinum White thinset for large format Agglomerate Marble tiles. Proper thinset coverage is also necessary and in some cases, back buttering of the tile may be required. As a natural stone product it is recommended that it be sealed to extend its longevity.
