The Fabula Series is a through body porcelain produced to emulate a soft natural limestone. As a through body porcelain, the color and patterning of the tile will bleed all the way through so that the surface of the tile will also match the body. In the rare instance that the tile may chip, this will help to disguise the blemish. Because this material is a porcelain product, minimal maintenance is required, while sharing similar, beautiful visual characteristics of natural stone. It is available in three neutral, subtle hues, each of which provides minimal tonal contrasts between pieces. Fabula is available with a complete list of trim and a multitude of sizes. This series is suitable for residential and commercial applications.
