Pebble Beach is quarried from a large pit quarry from a bedrock formation. It has a small grained background with unique specks of small white quartz. Its consistent pattern makes it an ideal product for large projects as well as kitchen countertops. During the polishing process, an epoxy resin is applied to the surface of the stone to fill in any natural pits, cracks or fissures that may exist. This does not affect the durability, maintenance or beauty of the stone. It is possible for some of the more minute pits that are too small to effectively hold the resin, to reopen during other finishing stages. However, this will not detract from the overall quality or appearance of the stone. As a natural stone product, it is recommended that it be sealed to extend its longevity.

This granite is also known as G603.
