Rumi Veincut F/H travertine is quarried in Peru. The layers of sediment range in color from light cream to a medium brown with some dark brown mineral deposits. This is a sedimentary stone that is formed in hot springs and is composed mainly of calcite calcium carbonate. It is a common characteristic for this stone to have voids in the raw material. There will be noticeable variations in color and movement between pieces. Therefore, it is important and recommended that a range of this product be viewed before finalizing a purchase. Piece to piece variation in shade or color are inherent in all natural stone products; therefore, when installing natural stone tile, it is recommended to mix tiles from several boxes at a time during installation to achieve the best range of color.

As natural stone products, it is recommended that these be sealed to extend their longevity. For proper bonding LFT/LHT mortar for large format and heavy tiles should be used when installing tiles with dimensional length greater than 15 inches and rectangular shape and plank tile per industry standards. Proper thinset coverage is also necessary and in some cases back buttering of the tile may be required.
